

ROOSEVELT RIDDLED

Undignified Attack of the President Replied to by

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

Chief Executive Scored for His Action in Putting Himself into the Campaign—Democratic Doctrines.

In the word war that has grown out of the exposures made by Mr. Hearst between the President of the United States and the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, Mr. Roosevelt has been riddled by Mr. Bryan and his guns have been silenced.

The following telegram to Mr. Roosevelt, in reply to his undignified attack upon Mr. Bryan is worthy of careful reading:

"Hon. Theodore Roosevelt,
President of the United States,
Washington, D. C.

"Dear Sir:—While I have not yet received your letter and shall not until I reach home next week, I have ready a copy of it in the press, and beg leave to submit the following reply:

"Haskell Free to Prosecute

"Mr. Haskell, having voluntarily resigned from the committee, that he might be more free to prosecute those who have brought charges against him, I need not discuss the question of his guilt or innocence, further than to say that the public service which he has rendered and the vote of confidence which he has received from the people of his state ought to protect him from condemnation until the charges can be examined in some court where partisanship does not bias and where campaign exigencies do not compel pre-judgment. I would not deem it necessary to address you further, but for the fact that you seize upon the charges and attempt to make political capital out of them.

"Cannot Attack His Sincerity

"You even charge that my connection with Mr. Haskell's selection as a member of the Resolutions Committee and as treasurer of the committee raises a question as to my sincerity as an opponent of trusts and monopolies. As an individual, and as the candidate of my party, I resent the charge and repel the insinuation. I have been in public life for 18 years, and I have been sufficiently conspicuous to make my conduct a matter of public interest. I have passed through two Presidential campaigns in which party feeling ran high and epithets were exhausted. I have no hesitation in saying that you cannot find an act, a word, or a thought of mine to justify your partisan charge.

"I had never been informed of any charge that had been made against Mr. Haskell connecting him with the Standard Oil Company or with any other trust. I had known him as a leader in the Constitutional Convention of Oklahoma and had known him as one of the men principally responsible for the excellent Constitution which has since been adopted—and adopted by a majority of over 100,000, 70,000 of which was furnished by Republicans.

"Taft Had a Chance to Warn

"I had known of his election to the Governorship of that great young state by a majority of some 30,000. I had known that the Constitution was adopted and that Governor Haskell was elected in spite of the efforts of your administration and in spite of the speeches made in Oklahoma by Mr. Taft.

"You say that it was a matter of common notoriety that Mr. Haskell was connected with the Standard Oil Company. I have a right to assume

Mrs. Barbara Brown

Mrs. Barbara Brown died at the home of her son-in-law, A. L. Snowberger, in Blair County on Sept. 27, aged 90 years and 13 days. The deceased was a daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth Shriner. She was born in Lancaster County and about the time she was grown to womanhood moved with her parents to this county in the vicinity of New Enterprise. She was united in marriage with Jacob S. Brown and resided in South Woodbury Township until after the death of her husband, twenty-three years ago. Mrs. Snowberger died several months ago. Mrs. Brown leaves two children, H. S. Doty and Mary Ann Doty, both of Martinsburg and Mrs. Jacob Dell of Duncansville.

She fell on September 2, breaking her right hip, which was primarily the cause of her death after twenty-five days of suffering. The remains were taken to Martinsburg Monday afternoon where the funeral took place Tuesday morning at 9:30. The services were held in St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, after which the remains were conveyed to Barley's Cemetery, near Baker's Summit, where interment was made.

Takes His Own Life

Alfred Guirand, who had been hosting for some time with Dr. J. G. Hanks at Breeswood, committed suicide in his bedroom Friday night of last week.

Guirand was about 50 years of age and was a native of Germany, though he was naturalized in Ohio in 1890. The funeral service was held on Sunday and was conducted by Rev. Wise. The unfortunate man had placed everything over which he had charge in good order. He shaved, took a bath, put on his best clothes, went to bed and arranged a chloroform bottle to his nose, then threw the covers over his head. Little is known of his history.

OSTER'S RECORD

A Willing Tool of Penrose Machine—
Was "Absent and Not Voting."

A vote for George W. Oster, Republican candidate for Representative, is a vote to give Boies Penrose a third term in the United States Senate. Voters of Bedford County should remember this when they go to the polls on November 3 next. Official records of the Legislature of 1907, in which Oster served as a member of the House of Representatives, show that he was one of the most willing tools of the corrupt Penrose State Machine. Oster may boast of his independence of the Machine and its arrogant bosses, but official records show those boasts to be false and prove his unfitness for a legislator. With few exceptions Oster voted for every salary-grab, treasury-raised bill forced through the Legislature of 1907 by Penrose and his henchmen.

He voted for the bill authorizing "Dave" Martin, State Commissioner of Insurance, to appoint two permanent inspectors, for which there was actually no need. (House Journal, pp. 525-6.)

He also voted to saddle on to the taxpayers of the State the cost of an additional Common Pleas Court in Allegheny County, with three Judges. (House Journal, pp. 703-4.)

He was conveniently "absent and not voting" when the vote was taken on the bill creating the useless office of Additional Orphans' Court Judge of Philadelphia County. (House Journal, pp. 813-4.)

He helped pass the bill creating four additional jobs in the State Mining Department to pay certain political debts incurred by the Penrose outfit in the Stuart campaign. (House Journal, pp. 656-7.)

He voted for the bill giving electric light, heat and power companies authority to condemn real estate. (House Journal, pp. 1439-40.)

He dodged the vote on the bill creating the useless office of Assistant State Veterinarian and authorizing the State Veterinarian to appoint a stenographer. (House Journal, pp. 1941-2.)

The foregoing are only a few of the many Machine bills for which Oster voted in the session of 1907. There is absolutely nothing in his record of that session to justify the voters of Bedford County in supporting him for a second term.

Those who are tired of the Rule of Penrose and the State Machine—the history of which is well known—and also the domination of the "Local Annex," or Reynolds' branch, should support John L. Bortz for the Legislature.

Andrew R. Wilson

Andrew Ross Wilson, son of John and Phoebe Wilson, died at his parents' residence, 820 Sixth Avenue, Altoona, Wednesday, September 30, of a complication of diseases. He had been ill since last December, but his condition was not considered serious until about six weeks ago. He was born in Altoona June 22, 1881, being aged 27 years, three months and eight days. The deceased was a painter by trade and was a member of Trinity Reformed Church and the Modern Woodmen of America. He was married about three years ago to Miss Annie Beegle, daughter of Philip Beegle, of Bedford Township, who survives, as do also his parents, one brother and two sisters—Bessie M. Wilson, at home, Mrs. William M. Wilson, of Erie, and Harvey K. Wilson, at home. The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary B. Williams

Mrs. Mary Barnes, widow of Perry Williams, died at her home in Schellsburg on Friday, September 25, aged about 70 years. Deceased was born and reared in Johnston. She was married to J. Perry Williams on December 22, 1868, and had since resided at Schellsburg, where her husband died a number of years ago. The following children survive: Catherine, Robert and Herbert, at home; Mrs. Elizabeth Statler of Somerset, and Clarence of Johnston. Three brothers, John F. of Waterford, Dr. Robert H. of Youngstown, O., and Charles Barnes of Brookville, O., also survive her. The funeral took place at the home on Sunday, Rev. E. L. Kennedy conducting the services.

Mrs. Williams was a life-long member of the Presbyterian Church and will be greatly missed there, although she was not able to attend its services very often for the last few years, being an invalid. Her children will miss her greatly, as she was first in their thoughts and care, yet they have the assurance that she has gone to a better home where there is no sickness nor pain. We extend to the bereaved ones our heartfelt sympathy.

Miss Regina Smoot

Miss Regina Smoot, (colored) daughter of Louis (deceased) and Martha Smoot, of Bedford, died at her home on Watson Street on Thursday, September 24, after a long illness, aged 25 years. She was born in Charles County, Md., in 1883, and had resided at this place for the past four years. Her father and a sister, Mrs. George Harris, preceded her in death.

Deceased was a faithful member of St. Thomas' Catholic Church and held the esteem of a large number of friends and acquaintances. She is survived by her mother and an uncle, James Smoot, of Bedford.

The funeral services were held in St. Thomas' Catholic Church Saturday morning, conducted by Rev. Father Downes. Interment in the cemetery west of town.

VACANCIES FILLED

Frank Fletcher, Esq., Placed on Democratic Ticket for

DISTRICT ATTORNEY

S. A. Van Ormer Chosen Chairman of the County Committee—Encouraging Prospects.

In response to a call issued by the chairman for a meeting of the Democratic County Committee, a majority of that body assembled at the court house on Monday, September 28, for the purpose of filling the place on the ticket made vacant by Hon. R. C. McCannara who was nominated for the office of District Attorney at the spring primaries.

The committee was called to order by the chairman. The roll was called by the secretary and, despite the inclement weather, showed a majority present.

The object of the meeting being stated and the rules of the party with regard to the filling of vacancies being read, Frank Fletcher, Esq., was nominated and unanimously elected as the party's candidate for District Attorney.

In a brief but telling speech Mr. Fletcher thanked the committee for the honor conferred upon him, and concluded by pledging himself, if elected, to discharge the duties of the office without fear or favor toward all the people of the county.

Mr. Fletcher, at the conclusion of his remarks, tendered his resignation as County Chairman and James F. Boor of Saxton was called to preside, after which S. A. Van Ormer was nominated and unanimously elected to fill the vacancy at the head of the local organization.

Mr. Van Ormer briefly reviewed the conditions existing in the present campaign in Nation, State and County and pledged his every effort to bring about success in Bedford County this fall.

Encouraging reports were made by many of the committeemen present as to the conditions in their localities. Temporary Chairman Boor declared that he had attended every Democratic Convention but one in the last 20 years and he regards the prospects for success better now than he has known them to be during those years.

Ruth Mabel Imler

Ruth Mabel Imler died at the home of her parents, Lincoln F. and Ciella (Berkheimer) Imler, at Imler on Sunday, September 27, of gastric fever, aged 12 years, seven months and 10 days. The little girl had been in delicate health for a number of years.

She is survived by her parents, a brother, Irwin and one sister, Lillie, both at home. The funeral was held at the home Tuesday morning, September 29, at 10 o'clock, the services being conducted by Revs. J. H. Diehl and J. W. Zehring. The funeral was largely attended and the floral offerings many and beautiful. Each schoolmate dropped in the grave a sprig of evergreen.

Joseph A. Gephart

Joseph Albert Gephart, whose death, as reported in our last issue, occurred at New Holland, Lancaster County, on Thursday, September 24, was a son of the venerable John T. Gephart of Bedford Township. He was born near this place on June 18, 1849, and at the time of his death was aged 59 years, three months and six days.

In 1871 Mr. Gephart was married to Miss Virginia Smith who, with three sons, survives him: J. Russell of Mill Hall, Clinton County; William J. of New York and John T. of Lancaster. He also leaves his father and the following brothers and sisters: Frank P., Thomas M., Mrs. W. S. Arnold, and Misses Virginia and Nellie Gephart, of Bedford, and Oliver D. of Cincinnati, O.

For a number of years Mr. Gephart was engaged in the mercantile business at this place, moving to Lancaster County about four years ago. His many friends will regret to learn of his death which resulted after a few days' illness from cholera morbus and paralysis.

The body was brought to this place Friday afternoon and taken to the home of his father, where Rev. J. A. Byler conducted the funeral services at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Interment in the Bedford Cemetery. J. Russell Gephart, wife and son, John T. Gephart and wife, O. D. Gephart of Cincinnati, and Jesse Smith of York were present at the funeral.

Daniel Roy Robinett

Daniel Roy Robinett died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Robinett, near Chaneyville on September 25, aged 15 years, five months and five days. Last winter the deceased fell and injured his left knee, which soon developed into bone cancer and necessitated an amputation, which was performed at Cumberland on February 16. He was soon able to go about on crutches, apparently well, until about two months ago. The disease developed rapidly, causing intense pain, death finally relieving him. Roy was a dutiful son and will be greatly missed.

He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Hugh of Cumberland, and Arnold of Jenners, Somerset County, and five sisters, Mrs. Laura James of Chaneyville, Mrs. Sadie Petters of Clearville, Mrs. Rebecca Robinett of Midland, Md., and Annie and Ida, at home. The funeral services were held Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Reformed Church at Chaneyville, conducted by Rev. Daniel G. Hetrick.

Victor C. Woy

Victor C. Woy died in Ray's Cove on Monday, September 28, of typhoid fever, aged 47 years and 12 days.

He married Miss Amanda Ritchey, who, with the following children survives: Ross and Archie at home and Mrs. Theodore Woy of California. The funeral service was held on Wednesday and interment was made in the Everett Cemetery.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

Of Women's Home Missionary Society Held in the

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Wednesday and Thursday—Many Delegates Present—Sessions Interesting and Well Attended.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Huntingdon Presbytery convened in the Bedford Presbyterian Church Wednesday afternoon, September 30, at 1:30 o'clock. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Rufus C. Eldor, President of the society. She read from Isaiah 29: 18 and Zach. 4: 1-10 and followed by prayer. The address of welcome was delivered by Miss Nannie Schell, President of the Bedford Missionary Society. Miss Schell said:

"I have the honor and the pleasure, on behalf of the Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church of Bedford, to extend to you, each and all, a warm and cordial welcome to our society, our church, our town and our homes. I believe that your meeting with us on this occasion will be of great service to us and do much towards the general cause of missions. Our society is both Home and Foreign, and we consider both branches and contribute to the support of both causes. The fact that our Blessed Lord has sent many thousands of foreigners and heathen right into our midst has made it the duty of the Home Missionary Societies to take care of these people. For if we fail to do so they may prove a menace to our free institutions, our churches, our homes, the sanctity of our Sabbaths and the sacredness of the marriage tie."

The response by Mrs. A. O. Taylor of Altoona follows: "Miss Schell and Ladies of the Bedford Church: Your most cordial welcome has made us feel quite at home. While I am not one of your society now, for 12 years I worked with you in this church, therefore know what these words of welcome mean. We come up to this meeting with great longings that it be a great blessing to all, and that through us our societies shall be revived and strengthened. In Nehemiah we read 'That the wall was built, for the people had a mind to work.' If we in this land had a mind to work, what might we not accomplish? Christ has a place and a work for each of us now. Ladies of the Bedford church, we hope we shall have gained such an impetus for the work here that we shall all be glad for the Bedford meeting."

At the conclusion of the address Mrs. E. S. Doty and Master Cloyd Doty sang "Nearer My God to Thee."

Mrs. Booie spoke of the Mossop Memorial School, Huntsville, Tenn., which is in charge of Dr. and Mrs. Butler, formerly of Clearfield, saying in part: "Girls are given industrial work in this school, which is in a very comfortable building accommodating 22 students, from all parts of the state. COME TO THE FAIR Grounds In Readiness and Arrangements All Completed.

MANY HORSES ENTERED

Series of Ball Games—Good Free Attractions—Bring Your Exhibits and Secure Premiums.

The County Fair will open Tuesday and the management says the grounds and buildings are all in readiness for the exhibition. Entries are coming in for the races and all classes will be filled. Horses from West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland and other sections of this state have been entered and the committee in charge of the races claims there will be 30 to 35 horses here, the majority of the horses coming from the Cumberland and Hollidaysburg Fairs being held this week. The directors are doing everything in their power to make the Fair a success and this week sent representatives to both exhibitions to secure more horses and other attractions. The races will start promptly each day at 1:30. Be sure to be there on time.

The association has secured as free attractions The Herman Trio, clowns and trick house performers, and The Wentzes, New York's celebrated contortionists and trapeze performers, who will perform daily in front of the new grandstand. A number of small shows will also be on the grounds as well as a large Merry-Go-Round, Ferris Wheel, and Ocean Wave.

The series of baseball games to be played for a purse of $150 will start on Wednesday at 1:30, Hyndman and Riddlesburg; Thursday, Saxton and Coaldale, and the third and deciding game will be played by the teams winning the first and second games. Music will be furnished by the Osterburg-Cessna (combined) Band.

Come to the Fair and you can rest assured that you will be entertained and amused all the time, as the program has been so arranged that there will be something going on continually. There will be a grand exhibition of all stock entered for premiums on the track at which time premiums and ribbons will be awarded. Co. H, 5th Regt. N. G. P. will give an exhibition of drill on Thursday.

We have been informed by the president of the association that they will award a premium for any article of merit even though it is not in the premium list. The directors extend an invitation to the ladies of Bedford and Bedford County to make an exhibit of all kinds of fancy work and a premium will be awarded on any deserving article even though not in the premium list. The exhibits this year will be larger in all departments than ever before.

The Schellsburg Association will have a large exhibit of all kinds of grain, vegetables, etc. This exhibit will be in charge of A. B. Ross, Esq., of Schellsburg, who will deliver an address to the farmers on Friday.

The directors of the association extend an invitation to the people of the county, especially, to attend. Come and spend three days of profit and pleasure. Look over the many attractive things that will be on exhibition. See the improvement in the breeding of choice cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, etc. There will be a large exhibit of agricultural implements; come and observe the advancements made in this line. You will go home feeling that you have been both profited and benefited by your visit to the Fair.

The price of admission will be 25c. No additional charge for teams. Remember—three big days—one day as good as another.

Rally at M. E. Church

Rally Day services will be held in the Methodist Church at this place on Sunday, October 4. Special music has been prepared for each of the services. At 10:30 a. m. the pastor, Rev. Biddle, will preach a sermon in keeping with the day; at 2:30 p. m. in the Sunday School room O. B. Poulson of Everett will deliver an address, and a service will be held in the evening.

The new library will be opened and souvenirs will be presented to the members of the cradle roll. Parents are urged to come and also to see that their children are present.

Marriage Licenses

George W. Ferguson of Springhope and Bessie Alice Clark of Mann's Choice.

Elmer K. Witters and Estella Blackburn, of Woodbury.

Edgar Stephen Weimert and Belvie Ethel Lanchart, both of Woodbury Township.

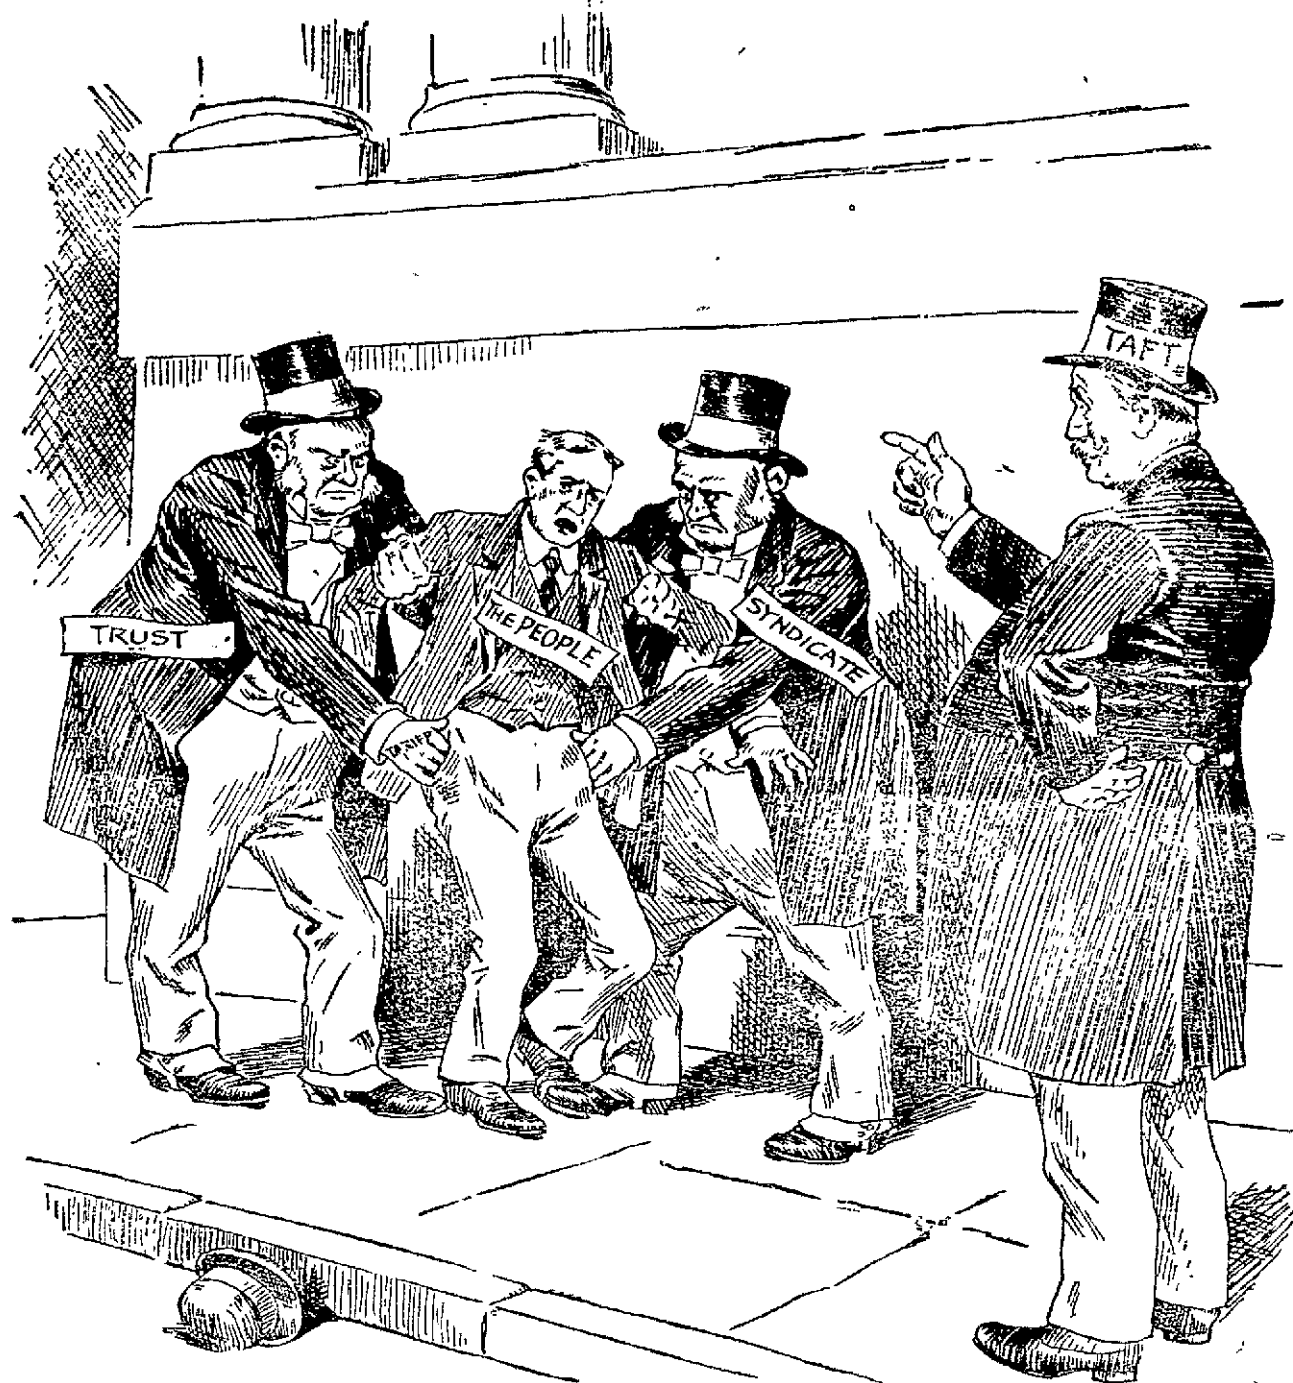

Elmer E. Mock and Anna O. Wisel, both of East St. Clair Township.

Ferguson-Clark

George W. Ferguson of Springhope and Miss Bessie A. Clark, daughter of William Clark of Mann's Choice, were united in marriage at Saxton on Tuesday, September 29, by Rev. E. L. Kennedy.

Hite-Hanawalt

At the parsonage at Saxton on September 30, Rev. F. W. McGuire united in marriage Clarence Hite of Clearfield and Miss Laura E. Hanawalt of Coalmont. The newly married couple left for Clearfield and other points.

TAFT—"DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS WILL DISTURB BUSINESS!"

During his visit to "The Philadelphia Record" Sept. 15, 1908, Mr. Bryan suggested the above cartoon to Mr. De Mar.

—By De Mar.

that if so serious an objection had existed to Mr. Haskell's election, and had been a matter of common notoriety in Ohio, as you say, Judge Taft would have felt it his conscientious duty to warn the people when he spoke in Oklahoma. If he did not have the knowledge, why can it be assumed that I had it? And if he had it, how can you excuse his failure to communicate the information to the people of Oklahoma? If you feel it your patriotic duty to denounce Mr. Haskell when he is only a member of the national organization, how much more would Mr. Taft have felt it his patriotic duty to denounce Mr. Haskell when he was aspiring to be the Chief Executive of a great state?

"I could have had no knowledge of the suit to which you refer when he was appointed chairman of the Resolutions Committee of the Democratic National Convention, because the suit was brought while he was at Denver, and, as a matter of fact, I did not know anything of the nature of the suit until after he was made treasurer of the National Committee, and no fair-minded person can decide upon the merits of your charge without an examination of the provisions of the Enabling Act passed by a Republican Congress, and the provisions of the license of franchise issued to the oil Company by your administration.

"I need hardly refer to the newly-found evidence upon which you lay so much stress, viz: The article in The Outlook of September 5. My attention was never called to that article until I read the published copy of your letter, and while I have great respect for The Outlook, and I suppose I have for the writer (although you do not give his name), I would hardly feel justified in deciding as promptly as you do on an ex parte statement without investigation.

Defends the Trust Plank

"You present an indictment against our platform declarations on the Trust questions, but you do not refer to all of the planks and do not deal justly with those to which you do refer. Our platform declares in favor of the vigorous enforcement of the criminal law against guilty Trust magnates and officials. Your platform does not contain any such demand. Will you say that your platform is better than ours in that respect? Our platform demands that corporations beyond a certain size be compelled to sell at the same price in all parts of the country, due allowance being made for the cost of transportation. Will you deny that this is in the interest of the consumer and in the interest of the smaller competitors? We present a plan under which no corporation will be permitted to control more than one-half of the total product.

Allowed Great Steel Deal

"It has been stated that the steel company, with your express consent,

HAWKING MACHINES

Catarrh Sufferers are Nothing But Hawking, Spitting and Blowing Machines, Says an Authority.

Is it possible that in these days when cleanliness and sanitary reform is being preached in the churches, schools and at public gatherings, that thousands of people will continue to suffer from catarrh, when there is an absolutely certain remedy always on hand?

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei) is a pleasant, medicated and antiseptic air. Breathe it in and it will cure catarrh. It will stop foul breath, watery eyes, and crusts in the nose, in a few days.

It is guaranteed by F. W. Jordan to do it or money back, and such a guarantee ought to be strong enough for anybody.

Entirely Cured by Hyomei.

Having suffered from catarrh for about two years, and having tried numerous remedies without any satisfactory results, I finally tried Hyomei, and am glad to state that after using about one and one-half bottles I am entirely cured. I have recommended it to others with satisfactory results.

—C. N. Lindsay, 407 East First Ave., Mitchell, S. D.

A complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a strong, hard rubber pocket inhaler and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1, and extra bottles, if afterwards needed, cost only 50 cents each at F. W. Jordan's or direct, by mail, charges prepaid, from Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hyomei also cures Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds, Croup of infants, and any inflammatory disease of the respiratory tract.

purchased one of its largest rivals and thus obtained control of more than 50 per cent. of the total output. Will you insist that in permitting this you showed less favor to the monopolistic corporation than I do in opposing it?

"You quote at length from a speech made by Governor Hughes in which he ridicules one of our anti-trust remedies. Is this the same Governor Hughes who was counted as one of the 'allies' who endeavored to defeat Mr. Taft when, as you insisted, Mr. Taft represented the 'reformers' of your party and his opponents, the reactionary element? Did not Governor Hughes have the support of the New York delegation in the convention and is not New York City the home of many of the Republicans most conspicuous in their connection with the law-defying corporations?

Trust Magnates Financed Hughes

"You are certainly aware of the fact that in the statement filed by George E. Sheldon, then treasurer of the Republican State Committee two years ago, after Mr. Hughes' election it appears that the following contributions were made to the campaign fund: J. P. Morgan, $20,000; John D. Rockefeller, $5,000; Andrew Carnegie, $5,000; Charles M. Schwab, $2,000; John W. Gates, $2,000; W. E. Corey, $2,000; W. Nelson Cromwell, $1,000; W. F. Havemeyer, $800; B. M. Duke, $500. Several of these men are known to be officially connected with the Trusts.

"Would the fact that these gentlemen contributed to his campaign fund strengthen or weaken his testimony against the reasonableness of our anti-trust remedy?

"You cannot have failed to notice that Governor Hughes in his speech assumed the role of the critic and not that of the constructive statesman. Any one possessing a vivid imagination and a pen can find objections to remedial measures. Lord Macaulay is quoted as saying that eloquent and learned men could be found to dispute the law of gravitation if there were any advantage to be gained by it. But when 'known abuses' are to be cured an ounce of remedy is worth a pound of fault-finding.

Paine on Roosevelt's Hands

"As you quote from Governor Hughes I take it for granted that Mr. Taft has not yet expressed himself in as satisfactory manner on the subject, for you would naturally prefer to quote from the Presidential candidate wherever possible.

"You say: 'Let us repeat that no law-defying corporation has any other reason to fear from you save what it will suffer in the general paralysis of business,' etc. Referring to the last part of the sentence first, I might question your ability to act as an expert as to panic preventives, since you have one on your hands, but as to your charge that no law-defying corporation has reason to fear the direct effect of the anti-trust remedies which I favor, permit me to suggest that your testimony on this subject is not conclusive. You are a witness, to be sure, but your interest in the result of the election must be taken into consideration in weighing your testimony.

"There is better evidence. The Trust magnates know their own interests and they are supporting Judge Taft. Not one of the Trust magnates helped to secure my nomination, while it is a matter of 'common notoriety' that they were conspicuous in the Republican convention, and it is equally a matter of common notoriety that they are supporting your party in this campaign. If you will name a single official connected with a law-defying corporation, monopoly or Trust who has declared or will declare that he is supporting me I will publicly warn him that I will enforce against him the present criminal law and will enforce against him also the laws demanded in the Democratic platform as soon as these laws can be enacted.

Says President Dodged

"But there is another fact which raises a presumption in favor of our party and against your party. I referred to it in my former letter to you, but you inadvertently overlooked it in your reply, and the members of your Cabinet, called in for consultation, evidently did not notice it. I stated that he had not knowingly received a dollar from any official connected with a corporation known as a Trust, and that any money so received would be returned as soon as we received knowledge of the fact.

"I now remind you that your convention deliberately rejected, by a vote of 9 to 1, the plank favoring publicity as to campaign contributions. Mr. Taft has repudiated the action of the convention and rebuked the members of the convention by declaring himself in favor of a publicity law, but he favors publicity after the election, while we favor publicity before the election. Which do you regard as the better plan—to let the people know before the election what influences are at work, or to let them know after the election?

"Are you willing to say that any public interest was served in 1904 by concealing until after the election the contributions made to the Republican Campaign Committee by Mr. Harriman and those collected by him from others?

Why Not Have Publicity?

"Are you willing to say that the publication before election of the contributions then made would have no effect on the election? As I have said, we shall publish the names of contributors above $100. Will you ask your National Committee to publish before the election the contributions above $100? Or, if you regard this as too small a sum, the contributions above $1,000; or, if this is also too small, the contributions above $10,000? If not, what reason can you give to the public for not doing so? I insist that our willingness to let the public know the sources from which we receive contributions raises a presumption in our favor that must be overcome before you can ask the people to accept your statement that the law-defying corporations have more to fear from Republican success than from a Democratic victory.

Denounces Enforced Succession

"In conclusion, you say that you ask support for Mr. Taft because he stands for the moral uplift of the nation, because his deeds have made good his words, and because the policies to which he is committed are of immeasurable consequence alike to the honor and the interests of the whole American people.

"I dare to compare my efforts for the moral uplift of the nation with his efforts, my deeds with his deeds and the policies to which I am committed with the policies to which he is committed, and more than that, if I may assume that he will follow in your footsteps I dare to compare my ideal of the Presidency with his.

"I do not regard it as proper for the President to use his prestige, his influence or his patronage to aid one member of his party as against another who aspires to office, and I regard it as a violation of the obligation that the President owes to the whole people to use an office that belongs to the whole people as a party asset for the advancement of a personal friend and a political protégé.

"Believing that the President should not be tempted to use that power for his own advantage—and it is equally repugnant to the spirit of our institutions that he should use it for anyone else's advantage—I tried to secure an amendment to the Constitution limiting the President to a single term and I have announced in three campaigns, if elected, that I would not be a candidate for renomination. I believe that the occupant of so high an office, with such enormous power at his command, should be absolutely free to devote himself unselfishly to his country's welfare, and I am sanguine enough to believe that if entrusted with power I would be able to make my administration so successful that the members of my party could, without interference from me, select the one most worthy to carry on the work begun by me—so successful that the administration would speak for itself and that it would not be necessary for me to defend it in bulletin or pronouncement. I think I could in this way give to the members of the opposite party as well as to the members of my own party a 'square deal.'

"Very truly yours,
"W. J. BRYAN."

A STEADY DRAIN

Sick Kidneys Weaken the Whole Body—Make You Ill, Languid and Depressed.

Sick kidneys weaken the body through the continual drainage of life-giving albumen from the blood into the urine, and the substitution of poisonous uric acid that goes broadcast through the system, sowing the seeds of disease. Loss of albumen causes weakness, languor, depression. Uric poisoning causes rheumatic pain, nervousness, nausea, cricks in the back, gravel and kidney stones. The proper treatment is a kidney treatment, and the best remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Great Bedford cures prove it.

Geo. C. Stiffer, living on W. Pitt St., Bedford, Pa., says: "The hardships and exposure I endured during the Civil War left me in a weakened condition and I suffered from kidney complaint ever since that time. I had to arise a great many times during the night to pass the secretions and they greatly interfered with my rest. My back ached severely and I was often crippled with rheumatism. I went to Irvine's drug store and procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and took them as directed and obtained relief. I am today in better health than I have been in years, and know this is due to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Oct. 2-2t.

RALLY DAY SERVICE

To be Held in Schellsburg Lutheran Church October 4.

An excellent program has been prepared for Sunday, October 4, when a rally day service will be held in St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church at Schellsburg at 3 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Program
Roll Call. Opening Service. Scripture Lesson, 2nd Samuel 6. Brief Exposition by the Pastor. Hymn No. 6. Address of Welcome by the Superintendent. Class Response. Hymn No. 9. Address by F. E. Colvin, Esq. Hymn No. 11. Address by Rev. M. L. Culler, D. D. Hymn, Page 33, "The Solid Rock." Offering—For the Purchase of Library Books. Closing Service. Benediction.

There will be no session of the Sunday School in the morning but at 10 a. m. Harvest Home Services will be held, with sermon by the Pastor.

Woman Interrupts Political Speaker

A well dressed woman interrupted a political speaker recently by continually coughing. If she had taken Foley's Honey and Tar it would have cured her cough quickly and expelled the cold from her system. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates and is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. Ed. D. Heckerman.

Another Surprise

Rev. B. F. Bausman and family, of Cessna, were greeted with another delightful surprise party Thursday evening, September 24. Members from St. Paul's congregation and friends from the community, eighty-five in number, together with Koontz's orchestra and a load of refreshments, brought a lot of cheer to the parsonage. After the bountiful collation was served, addresses were delivered by E. M. Pennell, Esq., of Bedford and Rev. J. William Zehring of St. Clairsville, in which they spoke of the love and esteem in which the parson and his family were held, which was feelingly responded to by Mr. Bausman. The lawn was illuminated and given up to games, and a good time was had by all.

State Police to Assist

In order to prevent violation of game laws by people of this state and illegal shooting expeditions by residents of Maryland and West Virginia, the State Department of Police has arranged to assist the State Game Commission's men in safeguarding game in Somerset, Bedford and Fulton counties. Recent investigations have shown that a number of violations have occurred in those counties close to the Mason and Dixon line and when local authorities got after the people they fled to the adjoining states. The state police will be detailed at once to assist. The Game Commission has placed fifteen special deputies on duty in various parts of the state. These men are to act on orders and will be allowed their expenses and one-half the fines collected. More will be added as needed. Owing to the abundance of game, hunters have been unable to restrain themselves.

SAVED HIS BOY'S LIFE

"My three-year-old boy was badly constipated, had a high fever and was in an awful condition. I gave him two doses of Foley's Kidney Remedy and the next morning the fever was gone and he was entirely well. Foley's Kidney Remedy saved his life." A. Wolfkush, Casimer, Wis. Ed. D. Heckerman.

EASY TO MIX

Mix It at Home By Shaking Ingredients in Bottle.

A SIMPLE REMEDY

Hundreds of People in Vicinity Here Will Welcome This Advice, Says Local Druggist.

What will appear very interesting to many people here is the article taken from a New York daily paper, giving a simple prescription, which is said to be a positive remedy for backache or kidney or bladder derangement, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well-known druggist here at home, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy, or the mixture would be put up if asked to do so. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic affections with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering. Those of our readers who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial. Oct. 2-31.

Are There Any New Stories?

The Bohemian Magazine was led to make its offer of $1,600 in prizes for short stories by a desire to find out whether the ingenuity of writers known or unknown, could invent a story that had any distinct novelty in plot or theme. The editors of The Bohemian are confident that several new writers now unknown will be brought to the front. They are sincerely hoping that some of these will be the ones to send the story involving the "new idea."

Magazine stories and, for that matter, books of fiction in general, are stamped by a dead conventionality of plot and an imitateness of theme. If there are any writers in the country who think they have it in them to write an American story, to any degree new in plot or theme, they will be interested in The Bohemian's prize offer.

A JEWELER'S EXPERIENCE

C. R. Kluger, The Jeweler, 1060 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed." Ed. D. Heckerman.

Worth the Price

The October number of The Ladies' World is without question the best issue of that popular monthly that we have yet seen. It is about equally divided between fiction and practical departments, with some excellent special articles thrown in, notably that on The Holy Land of Today, by Allan Sutherland; The Boy and His Parents, by Priscilla Wakefield, and What Women Can Do to Earn Money, by Laura A. Smith. The short stories are by Harriet Rowland, B. M. Burrell, Edith Robinson and Anna E. Flinn, while there are serials by Mary Mears and Albert Bigelow Paine. The Fashions and Dressmaking department is notably good in this number, and those looking for pretty designs to make up the Autumn wardrobe cannot do better than consult this. The dressmaking hints alone are easily worth the subscription price. Taken all in all, this is a good specimen of a good magazine.—[New York; Fifty Cents a Year.]

"A KING IN KHAKI"

Be sure you get a copy for October 4th, so you will not miss the opening chapters.

LETTER FROM CUBA

Soldier Boys Anxiously Awaiting Orders to Return.

Camp Columbia, Havana, Cuba.

Editor Gazette:

The election is now drawing near and it will not be very long until Uncle Sam will turn Cuba over to their own government. The election has been fixed for the 14th of November and the President will take his seat some time in January. The preliminary elections held last month passed off very quietly and present indications point to a very quiet election in November.

The troops will be withdrawn in January. We think the Marines will be the first to leave and will probably get away in December. We are all very anxious to go as in five more days it will be two years since we left Philadelphia. The first of next month the practice marches will commence and it is now understood that each branch of the service stationed here will go on a 21 days' hike.

Baseball is the chief sport now and each of the companies has its ball team. The Marine Battalion is composed of four companies and the four teams are pretty evenly matched so there are some very interesting games played. A Battalion League has been formed and we will now see which company has the best team. Company F's team has won seven straight victories. If we can only keep our winning streak. There is a field meet on the 22nd day of this month which promises to be very interesting.

Company I of the Hospital Corps gave a masked ball in the pavilion which was very well attended and enjoyed by all. Prizes were given for the best masks and to the best dancers, and refreshments were served. There is an entertainment or ball given every Thursday night in the pavilion which is free to all the soldiers and their friends. They are held under the direction of Chaplains Waring and Rice.

Tomorrow is swimming day for the Marines and the whole Battalion hikes to La Playa, a distance of one mile, and takes a salt water bath. The swim is very enjoyable but the hike through the hot sun and dusty road is not quite so pleasant.

Very truly,
Vance L. Ealy,
Corporal, U. S. M. C.

FASHION NOTES

As fall advances one sees a number of silk waists, and those of foulard are very attractive and bright and dainty for those days that bring a touch of crispness to the air. These foulard waists are to be found in plain colors, stripes, dots and disks and in the majority of cases are buttoned in the front with fancy buttons and narrow frills on each side for ornamentation.

The collar that curves high at the back is much more graceful than that which projects up among the roots of the hair in two sharp points.

Hand embroidered linen girdles, with the work all done in soft pale colors, are seen. They are fastened invisibly with hooks and eyes, making the girdle appear as though it had no opening. This gives the waist a round and youthful effect.

Gored skirts are strictly in favor this season and gradually gain the day over the pleated, although there is a variety of pleated skirts being worn. There is the triple pleat at each gore, the shallow pleat all around the waist and the box pleat for the bordered goods.

Just now the plain gored skirt seems bare and untrimmed to the uneducated eye, nevertheless, there is a constant demand for trimming bands, tucks in the bottom and buttons to reconcile one to the plain gored skirt.

ARE YOU ONLY HALF ALIVE?

Philadelphia Scrapple

Boil three or four pounds of fresh pork (quite fat) until very tender; then take out the meat, and season the water in which it was boiled, and thicken it with yellow corn meal, as thick as for hasty pudding, and let it cook a long time, to thoroughly cook the meat. Chop the meat tolerably fine, season well, and add it to the mush. When it is cooked, put it in square bread tins, to cool; when cold, cut in slices, and fry in a spider until brown. It should not require any fat for frying.—October Woman's Home Companion.

RECIPES

Chow-Chow

Six large ripe tomatoes, one large onion, one green pepper, one teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of brown sugar one pint of vinegar; peel and cut fine the tomatoes, chop fine the onion and pepper; add salt, sugar and vinegar; stew gently one hour.

Sweet Cucumber Pickles

Take six large, ripe, yellow cucumbers, peel and cut into inch pieces. Weigh, and to each seven pounds allow four pounds sugar, a pint cider vinegar, a dozen whole cloves, a stick of cinnamon and two blades of mace. Put vinegar, sugar and spices into a porcelain lined kettle, bring to a good scald, then add the cucumbers. Cover and cook gently until tender, but not mushy. Stand aside over night, then bring again to the boiling point and stand aside to cool. Repeat this the third morning, then lift out the cucumbers and pack in jars. Boil the syrup down a little longer, pour over the pickles and seal.

Cucumber Catchup

Pare very thin six large, fresh cucumbers and chop fine, add a small tablespoonful of salt, let it drain in a colander about an hour, add two small or one large onion chopped fine, teaspoonful of white pepper and one pint of white wine vinegar (cider vinegar will do), stir it all well together, put into a wide mouthed bottle, seal it air tight and let stand at least a month before using. Any one fond of cucumbers will like this. If air tight it will keep for years.

For any pain, from top to toe, from any cause, apply Dr. Thomas' Electric oil. Pain can't stay where it is used.

Rules for Embroidering

Every care must be taken to put every stitch in its place.

To do this it is necessary that the workbasket be furnished with hoops, a stiletto for eyelet work, an emery, scissors, thimble, beside the usual silks, cottons and needles.

It is a very poor plan to bite or break the end of a thread, for it is sure to spoil the last few stitches.

It is a great mistake to imagine that an eyelet may be "just cut away." Use the stiletto, and do it right.

Concerning the work itself, let no knots mar the wrong side.

When finishing off a thread do not wait until it is so short that it pulls the last stitch tight when you run it back on the wrong side of the design.

The Cause of Many

Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Why Cakes Fail

Because inferior ingredients are used, such as rancid butter, inferior sugar, damp flour and doubtful eggs.

Because either the butter is insufficiently beaten with the sugar or rubbed into the flour, or the eggs are not beaten enough.

Because the mixture is beaten after the flour is added, whereas all that should be done before.

The management of the oven is not understood and the cakes are either too dark or too pale.

Because the cakes are not carefully tested to make sure that they are cooked.

The cakes are either left in the tin or put flat on the table to cool; whereas they should be placed on a sieve or tilted up against something, so that the steam can easily escape.

Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs quickly, strengthens the lungs and expels colds. Get the genuine in a yellow package. Ed. D. Heckerman.

"The Philadelphia Record"

Actively Supports Bryan

curate information of all the important moves on the campaign chess-board will be indispensable to every wide-awake voter.

Democrats turn naturally to "The Philadelphia Record" for such information. It is the only Democratic newspaper in Philadelphia recognized the country over as one of the leading exponents of Democratic opinion on this side of the Continent. It is fair, though partisan; it chronicles the telling blow, no matter who is hit. Suppression and misrepresentation are weapons that have no place in its armory. "Square deal" Democrats and Republicans will find the daily budget of "The Record" essential to an intelligent understanding of the progress of a lively Presidential canvass.

No newspaper ever achieved popularity on the strength of its political attitude alone. "The Philadelphia Record" is no exception to the rule. It is lifted above the common level by many distinctive features that appeal to the varied interests of every member of the household. It prints the news—all the news—in a concise, brisk form that has come to be known, even among its contemporaries, as "Record style." A proper sense of perception detects its thorough presentation of happenings in its own immediate field—Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. Its editorial treatment of the questions of the day is at once well-balanced and aggressive.

"The Philadelphia Record" exploits no fads and rides no hobbies, but it is pre-eminent in its special departments. It is the recognized authority in the field of sports and the turf. Farmers and shipers swear by its market reports, which are always complete, accurate and wholly reliable. To the practical man its columns of popularized science are entertaining and helpful; the practical woman finds the matters that lie nearest to her heart treated amply—and sanely—in a department devoted to the home, dress and the world of feminine achievement. There is a corner in "The Record" for boys and girls; a weekly column of condensed, up-to-date information for the farmer; a daily bouquet of breezy anecdotes—"The Reporter's Nonsense"—so good that they are clipped and reprinted by newspaper editors throughout the country.

If you want a clean newspaper, worthy to occupy an honored place in the home circle—

If you want a live newspaper without a streak of yellow in its make-up—

If you want a hearty Democratic newspaper that will keep you thoroughly posted on every phase of a stirring national campaign—

If you want a family newspaper the profit and pleasure of reading which will be shared by others, no matter how diverse their tastes and inclinations—

It is the only paper that fills the bill.

PUBLISHING CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS

That the publication before the election of the names of contributors to the national campaign funds, together with the amounts contributed, is desired by the plain, honest people of the United States is evident.

The Democratic organization is pledged to make these facts known before the election, while the Republicans refuse to do so but promise to give out the information after the election.

What private reasons the Republicans have for withholding these facts, alas, we know not; but it is easy to understand why they would pig-ehole the information if the contributions are coming from the same sources as they did to the fund that placed Mr. Roosevelt in the White House.

The investigations of the past few years have revealed that trusts and life insurance companies and other gigantic concerns furnished that fund, and, judging by the past, we may assume that the funds for the present campaign are coming from the same source.

A glance at Mr. Roosevelt's action in the past throws light upon why both he and Mr. Taft object to making public contributions before the election, or, at least shows a relation between the administration and the money interests. He appointed George B. Cortelyou, his corporation inquisitor, chairman of the Republican campaign committee in 1904, thus making a selection of one qualified to get large sums. He made Elihu Root, who was Thomas J. Ryan's attorney, a member of his cabinet. He made Robert Bacon, J. P. Morgan's partner, Assistant Secretary of State. He permitted the Steel Trust to acquire the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company. He accepted James S. Sherman as Vice Presidential candidate. He authorized a member of his cabinet to grant the Prairie State Oil and Gas Company a franchise in Oklahoma when it was yet a territory. He would not allow Paul Morton, a member of his cabinet, to be prosecuted for rebating when a railroad official.

Such is Roosevelt and Taft's standing on Roosevelt's record. No wonder they don't want to make public before the election their campaign contributions and the contributors.

PUT THEM ON THE GRILL

In another column of The Post appears a list of questions put by Humphrey D. Tate, who is opposing the re-election to Congress of John M. Reynolds, in the Bedford-Blair-Cambria district. These questions have not only a striking local bearing, but a national import also. If the people of every Congressional district in the country will put the list at the Republicans running for re-election, not only is Cannon hopelessly beaten, but Cannonism with all its obstructive, treasonable tactics is crushed and cast out.

There are too many "me-too" statesmen in the lower House; no-bodies most of them are before elected. After they take their seats, no-bodies still. They are content to lay the shreds of their conscience and intelligence, together with the power conferred on them by their districts, meekly before the profane and cynical old man from Danville, and let him herd them into the trust camp.

If the country generally will only call more strictly for an accounting by its Congressmen of their two years' stewardship before entrusting them with another, we shall have an end of this puppet, manikin type of representative now so much in evidence in the Republican side. The fact that Mr. Reynolds once held appointive office under Cleveland's administration and went over to the other side should in this, a Bryan year, witness his discipline and defeat. He was among the number in the last session which refused to join with the Democratic minority under John Sharp Williams to pass certain approved recommendations of President Roosevelt. He and his cipher colleagues went along with the stand-patters. He should go out with the rest of them.—Pittsburg Post.

VOICES LABOR'S WRONGS

Gompers Says Republicans Have Discriminated Against Toilers.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an editorial in the Federalist, renews his criticism of Judge Taft and the Republican party managers. He says in part:

"Driven to desperation by their failure to deceive and cajole the toilers on the industrial issues of this campaign, Mr. Taft and his supporters charge that the workers are endeavoring to secure 'special legislation' which will enable them to become a 'privileged class of wrongdoers.' Nothing further from the truth ever has been uttered, and the Republican politicians know it. They are trying to deceive the people.

"The plain fact is that the workers already have been most unjustly discriminated against by Congress and the courts. The toilers already have been shorn of more rights than any other class of people.

"When Mr. Taft or his supporters refer to the injunction abuse, it is only to uphold the current perversion of fundamental principle which allows the courts to abuse the original intent of injunctions, by applying them wrongfully in labor cases, when they would not apply to any other citizen in the entire country. Mr. Taft always defends his course as an injunction judge and declares that he has aided labor, not assailed its rights. Again he counts upon popular ignorance of the real issues involved. There is no admission of error, no promise of reform on the part of Mr. Taft or his supporters.

"Labor is not partisan. It is neither Republican nor Democratic, nor does it owe allegiance to any other political party. It is today, and proposes to continue, absolutely independent of party domination; yet in this campaign labor realizes that the Republican party and its candidate stands committed against the relief and the justice which it must have. The Democratic party, by its candidate, has openly and courageously made labor's demands its own. The toilers of America and the thinking, sympathetic, liberty-loving citizens of our country will have no hesitancy in making their choice."

A STRANGE COINCIDENCE

Postoffice Must Be Removed From Congressman's Building.

It is a strange coincidence. In the issue of The Gazette of September 25 we published a list of questions to Congressman Reynolds from Humphrey D. Tate, Esq., the Democratic candidate for Congressional honors, among which was the following:

"Explain fully and clearly how you can honestly and lawfully secure the appointment of any of your political friends as postmasters, and require them to rent an office from you for which the Postoffice Department of our government pays a rental largely in excess of that obtainable from other tenants, when you are the Congressman and the owner of the real estate used for said postoffice?"

On that same 25th day of September the following article appeared in the city papers concerning an Oklahoma postoffice which was in a building partially owned by Congressman Carter:

"Washington, D. C., September 25.—Because Congressman Carter of Oklahoma is part owner of the postoffice building at Ardmore, Okla., the Postoffice Department has decided that the postoffice there must move into some other building. Carter's interest in the building is an old one, and the lease to the government was made five years before he was elected to Congress."

The Postoffice Department holds that it is a violation of the law which says:

"No member of or Delegate to Congress shall, directly or indirectly * * * undertake, execute, hold or engage in any contract or agreement made or entered into in behalf of the United States by any officer or person authorized to make contracts on behalf of the United States. Every person who violates this section shall be fined $3,000."

The statute further provides that any contract so made shall be void. In commenting on the matter the National Tribune says:

"In Mr. Carter's case the lease was made in the beginning of 1903, more than four years previous to his election to Congress, and will not expire until 1913. The assertion is made in the letter received by the Postmaster General that the minute Representative Carter took the oath of office the lease was terminated by operation of law, and the enjoyments of the rents and profits constitute a misdemeanor, on proof of which 'he shall be fined $3,000.'"

Congressman John M. Reynolds, supposed to be familiar with the law, owns and receives the rent for the postoffice building at Everett, Pennsylvania. Shall the Oklahoma Congressman be punished while our Congressman is allowed to continue to violate the law? Is Reynolds law-abiding? Shall a man, profiting as he is, illegally, from the Everett property be returned to Congress?

Degrading the Presidency

Mr. Bryan took the exact truth, says the New York Evening Post, on Saturday, when he said that it was "a violation of the obligation that the President owes to the whole people to use an office that belongs to the whole people as a party asset for the advancement of a personal friend and a political protegee." This was dimly recognized by Mr. Roosevelt himself when he caused it to be known that he would not take the stump for Taft, as such a course would be improper. But now he has cut down one of the trees in front of the White House to make a stump for himself from which daily to exhort Mr. Bryan and exalt himself, with incidentally (when he does not forget it) a kind word for Mr. Taft.

Whatever the merits of the controversy raging between the President and Mr. Bryan, whatever the political effect of Mr. Roosevelt's rushing into the fray, the spectacle of the chief magistrate engaging in a verbal brawl is one which the people ought not to be compelled to witness. The fact that no President ever before threw propriety and dignity and impartiality to the winds as Mr. Roosevelt is doing means, of course, nothing to him. He was born to defy precedents. He breaks conventions as Samson his green withes. But sober citizens cannot help asking if irreparable damage will not be done to a great office unless some way be found to induce the President to stay his hand. The President of the United States is bound to see to it that the republic take no harm, and, as a part of that obligation, is bound to see to it that his own high position be not lowered and cheapened in the eyes of the people.—Pittsburg Post.

Illegal Fishing

According to the report of the Central Fish Warden of Pennsylvania, he on Saturday, September 26, placed several persons under arrest for the illegal use of nets for catching fish at Hiram Felton's dam near Woodbury at the drawing-off that day. It is averred that Mr. Felton sold tickets to the amount of $226. Over two thousand people were present, some securing a large number of fish.

The following, concerning the above, was clipped from the Altoona Tribune: "The unloosing of the waters at Keagy's dam near Woodbury, last Saturday, was not quite so serene as was first reported. Fish Warden Shannon attempted to arrest David Price, a former sheriff of Bedford County, and internal revenue collector, on the charge of using a seine, with meshes of illegal size. He attempted to put the handcuffs on Mr. Price. The crowd interfered, and had not Squire George Imler protected the warden he would have been ducked by the infuriated populace in the dam. The warden finally decided not to make any arrests."

Sunday School Statistics Corrected

In the report of the Sunday School Statistics of Bedford County given last week District No. 11 should have 10 schools; District No. 14 should be 8 schools instead of 9; the total number of schools for the county should be 175 instead of 176.

Who Can Beat This?

W. Drenning of Route 1 Everett has a fish basket at Mr. Dallas and was successful in catching 90 pounds of eels a few days ago. James Q. Hershberger of Everett also has a basket and on reaching it Tuesday morning was surprised to find in it enough eels to fill two washtubs and two nail kegs, between six and seven hundred pounds. They also made a catch of 300 Tuesday night and 200 Wednesday night. If anyone can beat this we would like to hear from them.

presents itself here for the christianizing of the mountain girl." She then spoke on "Literature" and advised all to read "Home Missions, a Definition" and "The Plan, a Purpose, and the Result." "The purpose of our organization is to begin with a plan to secure a contribution from every woman of the congregation and secure the co-operation of all the members of the church." "Then the value be trained in the various benevolences of the church. Then the value of the Study Class was discussed. "It will not take the place of the Missionary Society but the time is right now to do more in the study class." "The ideal way is to have an inter-denominational class." "The call of the Waters" is the book for study this year for the seniors and "The Pioneers" for the children.

Wednesday evening's session was in charge of Rev. H. B. Townsend who conducted the devotional exercises, which were followed with a recitation by Miss Goldie Corle and a song by seven girls of the Mission Band.

After a solo by Mrs. George Helsel, Mrs. Boole spoke on "The Work of Home Missions." "It includes," she said, "the work of the Alaskans, Mexicans, Cubans and Porto Ricans. Thirty years ago the women were asked by the General Assembly to organize the work of Home Missions." She spoke of the work among the Alaskans at Nome where mail is received but twice a year, and at St. Lawrence Island, the most lonely place in the world, where they receive mail but once a year, and stated that there are seven Presbyterian churches among the Dakota Indians.

The first year of the Woman's Board $5,000 was raised and 13 teachers employed. This year there are 185 missionaries and schools and $522,000 has been raised. A wonderful work has been committed to the women.

Thursday morning's session opened with praise service, conducted by Mrs. L. M. Lewis and Mrs. W. H. Schuyler. The treasurer's report showed an increase over last year of $300. The total amount from all sources of the Woman's Home Board of the Huntingdon Presbytery is $3,971.92.

Greetings and hearty congratulations were sent to this society from many of the presidents of the societies on its 25th anniversary.

The communion of the Lord's Supper was administered before adjournment. Rev. Kennedy assisting Rev. Townsend. The "Ever-Ready Circle" of the Lutheran Church then furnished a very sumptuous luncheon to all the delegates.

A Matrimonial Importation.

By JENNIE LUDLUM LEE.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press

Earle Scott arrived at the pier just as the giant steamship docked. He appeared to be looking for no particular person, but, rather, to search the faces of the crowds on the arm.

"Are you one of those horrid men?" a rather tired voice inquired.

Scott turned and smiled at the girl beside him.

"Well, I certainly am a man," he acknowledged, "and I guess I'm about as horrid as most of my sex."

"Oh, I didn't mean—I beg your pardon," stammered the girl. "I meant were you a customs officer? You see, I'm—"

He scanned the girl's face closely. Could she be up to the old game of smuggling? More than one official had been tricked by a pair of honest eyes, and Scott had just acknowledged this; he was but a mere man. The girl certainly had a fascinating personality. Scott informed her that he was not a customs official, but offered to be of any assistance to her.

"Oh, thank you so much," she exclaimed as she hurriedly glanced about her. "I want a cab to take me to that address," and she handed him a visiting card. "No one has met me, and oh, I must get away before he comes off the boat."

"I understand," assured Scott, though in reality he did not. "Want to share some undesirable shipboard acquaintance?"

"It's not exactly that—he's a den but—oh, if you will just get me a cab that will solve the whole problem."

A cabman was found who agreed to take the girl to her destination for a nominal fee, and as Scott closed the door upon his mysterious companion she leaned forward through the window.

"Won't you tell me your name and I'll have my uncle write and thank you?" she inquired.

He drew a card from his wallet and presented it to her. Aloud she read the address in trembling voice. "Mr. Earle Scott, Harlequin Club."

"Won't you write instead?" Earle suggested, but the disinterested cabman whipped up his horse and her answer was lost.

Scott now hurriedly returned to the ship and boarded her. He had no difficulty in finding his father, who was always among the last to leave a ship. His son, knowing this, had not hastened to find him. After the first greetings the old gentleman slapped his son affectionately upon the shoulder.

"Well, my boy, I've brought you a fine present this year—a rare prize." Then, glancing about the ship and the crowd below them, he added, "But I think the little mix has slipped off."

That evening as father and son sat chatting over their coffee and cigars the old gentleman announced:

"Well, Earle, I brought a wife home for you—came over in the ship with me."

Earle seemed somewhat startled.

"May I ask, dad, if you have married again, or is this matrimonial importation for me to take unto my self?"

"Oh, for you—for you," said the old man gleefully. "And we're going around there tonight. Here's where she is. Her uncle, old John Banks, is a great friend of mine."

He passed the card over to Earle. The latter held the card to it in the morning. Smiling to himself, Earle agreed, thinking that the mysterious girl was well worth knowing better. All day long innumerable pictures of her had flitted through his mind. He would be glad to know the truth.

When father and son were announced, John Banks and his niece entered the room full of hearty greetings, but the young couple gave no outward sign of recognition. Before long the two elder men found that confidence in the form of duplicate what and good cigars.

Earle noted that Edith Hamilton was somewhat ill at ease, but made little headway in solving the problem that evening. When he left the house, however, he had to acknowledge to himself that the girl was charming in the extreme. He asked permission to call again.

"And, by the way, Miss Hamilton, I don't have to drag father around every time, do I?" he asked in mock deference.

On the way home that evening the father went into something of an explanation.

"There's an old fashioned girl for you, Earle. Like your mother was as a girl. Nothing deceitful about her—right in the open—everything straight from the shoulder. I talked a lot about you on the trip over and told her she was just the type of girl we were looking for that we needed her soon to round out our home. She's been in school for years over in France and now has come to keep house for Banks. How did she strike you?"

"As a most delicate, deep young person," announced Earle, with great emphasis. Yet in his heart he really felt that the apparent deceit only added to her charms.

Earle became a frequent visitor at the Banks household. He had the name of a heartless bachelor among his club mates. Women in general had made little impression on him, but he had to a knowledge to himself that he loved this girl with all his power.

When strength is full and spirits high we are being refreshed—bone, muscle and brain, in body and mind—with continual flow of rich blood. This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

and his power was a great one. He wanted her and would leave no stone unturned to win her. And the evening came when he told her of his love and asked her to be his wife.

"Oh, I wish you had not asked me," Mr. Scott. "I couldn't, really I couldn't, was her insistent plea. 'Just let's go on being friends.'"

The big man seemed to shiver. He was very much in earnest, but he took her refusal like the man he was.

As he sat at his desk the next morning idly dreaming of dreams gone wrong his telephone bell rang. It was Edith Hamilton at the other end of the wire. She asked him in most unsteady voice to come over that evening—that she had some sort of an explanation to make. Sharply at 8 o'clock, Scott was in the drawing room. As she entered the room her face bore a sad expression, yet withal she was radiantly beautiful to Earle.

"Little girl!" Scott almost whispered as she came toward him. She seemed a lovely being, far beyond his reach. "I love you—you know that, don't you?"

"Yes, Earle, I believe you do," she uttered as she sank into a chair near him. "That is why I sent for you. Something seemed to tell me to after you. I want to tell you something. The day I met you on the pier I wanted to escape your father before he came on shore. We had joked about my marrying his son, and when the time came when I must actually say 'I do' I hurried away to escape the meeting."

"And I thought you were running away from the customs officials," laughed Scott.

"Well, in part I was. You see I brought over a lot of real lace and smuggled it in. I had sewed rare and yards of it on a cheap petticoat which I had on at the time."

For a moment they both laughed heartily, then again the serious expression came back into Edith's face.

"It was all started in a joke," she continued. "But when I had actually met you and—here her voice dropped almost to a whisper—"and loved you I was so afraid that you were asking me just to please your father."

"Do I look like such a mollycoddle?" asked Earle as he drew closer to her.

"Well, that was why I said 'No' last night. Then I couldn't sleep for the very joy of thinking that perhaps—perhaps you really did love me for myself alone. Do you, Earle?"

For answer Earle took her in his arms.

"You're a deceitful little wretch," he teased, "but I love you and for yourself alone—better than life itself—and you must know it."

"Oh, dear, I'm so happy," she murmured as she nestled closer to him. "And, Earle, it's early, and Uncle John has gone over to play whist with your father. Let's run over and surprise them. I'm sure Uncle John will be so glad to be rid of me—and your father—well—"

"Will be so happy to find that his matrimonial importation has proved acceptable," finished Earle.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Sam. vi, 1-12. Memory Verse, 12—Golden Text, Ps. c, 4—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.]

Throughout the whole of the Scriptures there is no way of reconciliation to God revealed but by the great sacrifice on Golgotha, prefigured in every true sacrifice from Eden onward. This redemption is to the end that the redeemed may serve Him, the only living and true God, in truth with all the heart, proving in the daily life the good and acceptable and perfect will of God (I Sam. xii, 24; I Thess. i, 9; 10; Rom. xii, 1, 2). It is for God and for Him alone to appoint to each one his place and his service, "to every man his work," and it is the privilege of each one to "dwell with the King for His work" (Eph. ii, 10; Mark xiii, 34; I Chron. iv, 23). The redemption is wholly His own; so are also the works for us to walk in and the way in which the work is to be done. The work of the Lord can be done only by the redeemed of the Lord and in His own appointed way. There never lived on this earth but one who always thought God's thoughts and did God's work in God's way without fail, and He who was truly Son of God and Son of man is venerationly typified in the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth, which is mentioned fourteen times in this lesson chapter.

When God redeemed Israel from the bondage of Egypt that they might serve Him, He gave them His holy law from Sinai, which they promised to keep, but while Moses was up in the mount with God receiving the law written on tables of stone, absent scarcely six weeks, they broke the whole law (Ex. xii, 10) by breaking the first commandment. Then Moses, returning from God, seeing their sin, as a striking object lesson threw down the tables and broke them. God recalled Moses, and, having written the same words on tables which Moses had made, He commanded him to make an ark according to the exact pattern which He showed him and in it put the law and keep it there. So the ark of the covenant, made of incorruptible wood and pure gold, typifying the pure humanity and the real divinity of Christ, kept the holy law which sinful Israel could not keep. Christ alone could say, "I delight to do Thy will, O my God—yea, thy law is within my heart" (Ps. xl, 8; Heb. x, 7-10). As the ark was made to keep the holy law, the tabernacle was made with the holy of holies specially for the ark, and there in the holiest of all God dwelt in the midst of His people over the mercy seat or lid of the ark, between the cherubim (Ex. xxv, 8, 22).

The tabernacle, after all its wilderness journeyings, found a resting place when Israel entered the promised land and in the days of Samuel was located at Shiloh (I Sam. i, 3; iv, 3). But when Israel, relying upon the ark rather than the Lord, took it to battle with them it was taken captive by them and never seems to have been returned to the tabernacle. The Philistines, being plagued by the Lord because of the ark, for a sinful people cannot tolerate the Lord's presence apart from sacrifice, returned the ark to Israel on a new cart drawn by two milk cows, the Lord guiding the cows to Bethshemesh, where over 50,000 died because they looked into the ark, for the law apart from the mercy seat can bring only death. The ark then passed on to Kirjath-jearim, where for long years it continued in the house of Abinadab on the hill (I Sam. vii, 1, 2). Now that David was established in his kingdom (II Sam. v, 12) one of his first thoughts was a place for the ark of the covenant at Jerusalem, and this was well and as it ought to be, but now we have a sample of a thing that is very common in the church to-day, the Lord's work, or what professes to be the Lord's work, carried on in worldly ways. David knew that the ark should be carried only on the shoulders of the Levites, holy men set apart for that purpose; yet, instead of inquiring of the Lord, as was his usual custom, he consulted with his captains and leaders and, adopting the Philistine method, had a new cart made, on which they started to bring up the ark (I Chron. xv, 2; xxi, 1).

Then came Uzzah, the oxen stumbled, Uzzah, attempting to steady the ark, died; David was displeased with God, and the ark was placed in the house of Obed-edom, where it continued three months, bringing blessing to his household (verses 11, 12). Then David, realizing that the fault was his and that on the previous occasion they had not sought the Lord after the due order, had the priests and Levites sanctified to bring up the ark of the Lord God of Israel, and they bore it on their shoulders, as Moses commanded, according to the word of the Lord (I Chron. xv, 13-15). The same Lord who dwelt in the midst of Israel lives now in every true believer (John xiv, 23; I Cor. vi, 10; I Cor. vi, 19, 20), that the world may know Him and believe on Him, and to this end He desires a willing and obedient people set apart wholly for Himself. All worldly conformity in the life of a believer or in the work of the church is like David's new cart, which can only make trouble and grieve the Spirit of God and dishonor God in the eyes of those who know Him not.

DAINTY LOW NECKED DRESS.

Simple lines and suitable materials prettily made go far toward making a child appear well and appropriately dressed. This does not mean that the materials be expensive or that they be elaborately trimmed, but, rather, that they should be of serviceable colors and materials and simply designed. The model in the accompanying illustration is a particularly desirable one for washable materials, for it is easily made and laundered.

This dress can be worn with a lawn blouse, or for indoor wear the square Dutch neck and short sleeves are very comfortable and neat. A fancy of the season is that of a dress of white cotton or linen with trimming bands of pink, blue or tan. These colored bands may be left perfectly plain or embroidered or braided with white. The new bordered materials lend themselves very satisfactorily to this design and are economical as well as attractive, as they require no other trimming.

This design is also pretty for a heavier goods of a dark color, as it can be worn with sheer gumpies that make it attractive. It has the fullness laid in tucks that are stitched from the yoke to body depth and from there down pressed in position and allowed to fall in pretty plaits. At the point where the stitching stops a belt is arranged to hold the tucks in position. This can be either of the dress material or made to correspond with the yoke and sleeve bands.

Coffee colored linen is very attractive with bands of white as well as braided or braided in a pretty shade of red.

A pretty dress of this design in pink chambray with gumpies of dotted swiss. The neck of the dress and edge of the sleeves could be finished with a band of white or of the same with a pretty floral design in white embroidery cotton.

This dress closes in the back. The pattern is cut in three sizes—one, three and five years. To copy this dress for a child three years of age it requires 2 1/2 yards of material 27 inches wide or 2 1/4 yards 36 inches wide.

Any reader of this paper who desires to secure this pattern may do so by sending 10 cents to this office. Give the number, 4104, state size desired and write the full address plainly. The pattern will be forwarded promptly by mail.

The Importance of Proper Eye Glasses and Spectacles

The fitting should be carefully done and the cost ought not be great. The eyes of many men and women have been seriously injured, in many cases permanently, by wearing glasses not suited to their eyes. Then again the cost to the wearer is usually many times greater than necessary.

Free Tickets to the Big Fair

Beginning Saturday morning, October 3, and continuing in effect next week, I will give to each lady or gentleman placing their orders during this period A Free Ticket to the Bedford County Fair.

The Fair is going to be a big success this year and don't you forget it! The new management has taken hold with a vim, and preparations are being made on the line of up-to-date methods. A ticket to the fair this year means that you will see something worth seeing and have an enjoyable time. Every one is going, and while in town make it your business to order that new suit or coat and secure the free ticket. In case you are not ready to place your order, come in at any rate and take a look at the nobby styles.

Every garment, whether for men or women, is made strictly to measure. You do not have to take just anything, as is often the case when you purchase a garment ready-made. Here you select the cloth you want—the cloth that is becoming to you, and have the garment made and trimmed just as you wish to have it—the cost is no more than the hand-me-down-off-the-shelf kind. In fact, many have remarked that my prices are considerably less—come in and see for yourself; this is the best way.

Men's Suits at $12.50, $14.50, $16.50, $18, and upward.

Ladies' Suits at $13, $14.50, $15.50, $16.50, $18, and upward.

Mill President Got Skinned

Mr. President of a cotton-mill at Union, S. C.—he don't want to see his name in print—had two offers of 500 gallons of paint: $1.30 and $1.25. Took the $1.25, and got skinned. He'd have got three-quarters skinned if he'd taken the other. The $1.30 was full-gallon; the $1.25 was 18 per cent. short. The full-measure paint was adulterated 40 per cent.; the short-measure paint was adulterated 45 per cent., besides benzine in the oil, don't know how much.

Devote lead-and-zinc wasn't sold in the town then. It don't pay to monkey with paint. Devote costs less than any of 'em; not by the gallon, of course; by the house and year. That's how to reckon it. Go by the name.

Manufacturing Smokeless Powder
The Broad Top Powder Company, whose headquarters are at Saxton, began the manufacture of smokeless powder, at Huntingdon last week. The powder is quite an invention as it is odorless and smokeless and can be used by miners in blasting. Those interested in the Huntingdon concern are D. S. Drake and Chester J. Langdon, of that place, and W. W. E. Shannon, Allie Eichelberger and R. H. Kay, of Saxton.
